COLD POINT PLYMOUTH.

Happenings of Local Interest to Our Readers.

K. G. E., of Cold Point, Nominate Officers—Baptist Church Services—Plymouth Church Activities—Harmonville and Plymouth Centre Notes.

Augusta, wife of the late William Mohs, died on Nov. 29 in North Willow Grove at the residence of her son, Oswald Mohs. She was well known in the Cold Point vicinity, and is survived by the following children: Otto, of Wilmington, Del.; Oswald, of Willow Grove; William, of Chicago, Ill.; Anna Hessler, of Cold Point. The funeral was held on Saturday from her late residence at North Willow Grove and interment was made in Oakland cemetery.

Wallace Kelly, of Narcissa, has purchased a Ford runabout.

This Thursday evening the Buzzards of the K. G. E. lodge, Cold Point, will be in charge and have arranged moving pictures and refreshments for the members.

A dance will be held in Cold Point grange hall, Plymouth Centre, next Saturday evening under the auspices of the finance committee. Smith's orchestra will furnish the music.

Despite the storm on Sunday all services at the Cold Point Baptist church were well attended, the evening service being especially encouraging when a goodly number took the Christain stand publicly. The choir, aided by the beautiful solo work of Mrs. Campbell, added much to the effectiveness of this meeting. On this coming Sunday the choir will again sing at both services. In the morning the pastor will discuss the question of "Why a Man Joins Church." The evening talk will present proof that "God Still Loves the World." The choir has just about completed its work on the Christmas music. A few more voices can be used, however, and if any one desires to come for the next three rehearsals before Christmas, he or she will find a hearty welcome at the church on Friday night. The choir plans to celebrate the successful closing of the season's work by a party at the residence of the pastor.

The Camp Fire group of Cold Point under Mrs. Russel Kirk, received new members again Saturday, and are now fully organized and have started out on their regular work. The girls have chosen their Indian names and symbols and are having a merry time to pronounce them. The group can accommodate a few more girls if they apply soon. The Camp Fire meets Saturday at 3 o'clock at the Cold Point church.

The weather conditions had little or no effects upon the attendance at the Plymouth U. E. church services. The Sabbath school was especially well attended. The superintendent was in charge, with Miss Kathryn Rodebaugh in charge of the singing. The pastor used as his themes "The True Light of the World," and "The Beautiful Face of a Crusader," morning and evening respectively. The K. L. C. E. service in charge of Miss Rosalie Redman was inspiring and helpful. Announcements-Monday evening, Boy Scouts meeting in the church. Trustees next Monday evening. Ladies' Bible class met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Weidner, Plymouth Meting. Prayer service Wednesday evening followed by Sunday school managing board. Services next Sunday as usual at regular time.

Ladies' night was observed Tuesday evening of last week at the P. O. S. of A., Cold Point. A Sketch on ghosts, other entertainment, both vocal and instrumental music, etc., provided a very interesting and enjoyable program.

The K. G. E. castle at Cold Point, have made nominations as follows: Noble chief, Reeves Carr; past noble chief, Raymond Marple; sir herald, Frank Stead; clerk of the exchepuer Jacob Hart; master of records Charles Hendricks.

Mrs. H. Oscar Young, of Plymouth Meeting, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Frederick, in League City, Texas, will leave there on Dec. 14 for her return journey, expecting to reach Plymouth Meeting about the 18th. She left for the south early in November.

Samuel Yeakle, of Fort Washington, who on Monday retired from the Whitemarsh township school board, has been a member of that body for nearly 39 years and throughout all that period of service has been absent but a very few meetings. In addition to his regularity of attendance he has taken a keen interest in the township's school affairs exercising his good judgment and recognized conservatism for the safe progress of the township schools and the careful expenditure of the taxpayers' funds.

Miss Grace Campbell, of Harmonville, spent Sunday in Germantown.

Elmer Gladfeldter, assistant agent at Plymouth Meeting station, spent the week-end at his home in Elizabethtown.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Smoyer, of Harmonville, delightfully entertained a number of friends in honor or of her birthday.

Mrs. Lemuel Rodebaugh, of Plymouth Centre, has been quite ill.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Beck, of Conshohocken pike, Harmonville, entertained Robert Blair, of Philadelphia.

Despite the deep snow storm on Sunday there were 133 persons in attendance at the Plymouth U. E. Sabbath school.

Next Saturday evening a public dance will be held in Grange hall, Plymouth Centre, Admission will be 50 cents.

The Cold Point grange members have arranged a "trip around the world" for Dec. 15. One of the features will be that an adult may make the trip for $1 and a child for 50 cents and that it will comprise only a portion of one evening, but it is promised that Ireland, Germany, Italy, China, France and America will be visited—but we do not care to reveal just how the grangers are to accomplish it all, for one must go and see for himself. Meet at the grange hall prepared for the journey, and we guarantee you will be both surprised and delighted at the novelties in store on the "trip around the world." A dance will follow.

HOW ORPHANS ARE CARED FOR.

The Great Work Illustrated at the Ellis College.

Wonderful Work Accomplished for the Welfare of Orphaned or Neglected Children—Talk by J. Prentice Murphy.

On Wednesday, November 30th at 3.30 p. m., the Philadelphia conference of child caring agencies held a meeting at Ellis College, Lancasterville. After a brief transaction of business, J. Prentice Murphy, secretary of the Children's bureau of Philadelphia, spoke. Mr. Murphy, who has spent nearly 20 years studying the problem of thec are of homeless and destitute children illustrated his lecture on "Securing Good Foster Homes for Children."

In his lecture Mr. Murphy said that he has found two distinct kinds of homes. First, that of the boarding house which charges about $4 per week for the board and care of the child and who gouge those who are responsible for the care of the child; and, second, the home of open hearted people such as those who have raised children till they were married or gone off to take their places in the world, those who has never been graced by children, or had lost their child. The atter though in minority to the first, prove the better selection. Such homes have been marked years before any child is placed there. The reputation of the family and its ancestry have been traced, their religion, education, social position and domestic atmosphere have all been ascertained. Finally, if all proves satfactory, a child is chosen who conforms in religion, temperament and disposition to those selected to care for it. When the child is placed instructions are offered to the foster parents to give the child a fair education, a certain amount of social instruction and privilege, religious education and certain home surroundings. In other words the child is to be accepted as the foster parents' own child, and "visitors" from the Child Aid Society drop in unexpectedly at various times to see whether or not the child is being cared for in the right way and receiving the proper attention in every respect. If such be not the case then the child is removed, and taken to another place where it is tried out in a similar manner, and so on until the child is properly placed where after a number of years legal title is gained by the foster parents for the child's adoption and possession.

The Ellis school is an institution for those little girls who are either left orphans or who have experienced the misfortune of broken home ties. They are taken to this home from Philadelphia and the adjoining counties ,and are clothed completely and schooled in a thorough manner. Carson college for girls, in Flourtown, is another institution endowed for the same beneficent purpose.

These two schools emphasize the great work of the Child Aid Society, which always stands ready to aid, to care for and to do for all needy and orphaned children.

OBITUARY.

HARMAN LAUER.

Harman Lauer died Monday at the home of his son, J. Walter Lauer, 704 Fairview avenue, Ambler, in the 79th year of his age. The deceased was born in Smethport, McKean county, Pa., June 3, 1843, and came to Philadelphia with his parents when quite a child. Later he moved to Hatboro, where he resided for many years, finally coming to this section, and for many years he conducted the blacksmith business in connection with the wheelwright shop of the late George Ruch. These shops stood for many years in the triangular piece now owned by J. Henry Ringe. Mr. Lauer, in 1866, married Margaret Clayton, of Huntingdon Valley, who died during 1893. As the result of this union there were born two sons, J. Walter and Conrad, who survive. Funeral services will be held Friday at 1 p. m., from his late residence. Interment will be made in Hatboro cemetery. Futhe services at the cemetery chapel at 2.30 p. m.

WEDDED.

URBACH—DIEL.

Mr. Francis Urbach, of Fox Chase, and Miss Mary Diel, of Churchville, were married at the home of Norman Urbach, 716 Rosemary avenue, Ambler, who is a brother to the groom. The marriage was performed at 9 p. m. by Rev. G. G. Dilworth, of Calvary Methodist church, Ambler. After the ceremony the newly married couple led the party, composed of relatives and friends to the number of 30 people, to the bridal supper, which also partook of a merry-making occasion, and while the wedding guests were thus employed a calithumpian band and other serenaders formed on the outside. The newcomers were received graciously and were duely rewarded for there aid in the celebration. It is the intention of the bride and groom to spend a few days at the bride's home; then they will start on their honeymoon to Niagara Falls, where they intend to stay a week or more. On their return they will be at home at 933 Bleigh street, Fox Chase, Pa.

EUREKA.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Swartley have had no tidings of their new Ford coupe, which was stolen last Wednesday in Philadelphia.

A daughter, Alice Sutton Donnegan arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donnegan, on Chestnut lane, last Thursday morning.

League of Women Voters.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ambler League of Women Voters was held at the residence of the chairman, Mrs. William H. Russell. The number of old members present and the steady increase in membership at each meeting shows a gratifying interest in the work of the league. Sample copies of The Montgomrey Woman Voter, a bright little news sheet devoted to the interest of the work of women in politics were distributed and a number of subscriptions taken. The educational program for the winter was taken up and plans made for the study of the primaries, the history of political parties and our representation in congress. The League of Women Veters meets at the home of the chairman on the first Friday of each month. All women interested in the work of the eligible for membership.

Ambler Hunters in Maine.

The advent of deer season always has a remarkably magnetic attraction for some of our citizens, or so it is with J. C. Reed and James Kemmerer, of Ambler, who were accompanied by Frank Hilleman, of Oreland, and Irvin F. Rotzell, of Jarrettown. These men set out early in November and after two and a half days of travel arrived at what is known as the North East Cary, a small village near the upper end of Moosehead lake, Maine. Here two excellent guides were engaged, and selecting a few necessities from their out-fits, they made a small pack, stored their other belongings and set out on foot for the Penobscot river, a hike of seven or more miles. Here the guides procured canoes and they paddled up the river to Lobster lake, which is about seven miles in length and three miles in width. They paddled up this lake to a point of land which separates the lower lake from the upper. This is a dangerous place where the water is swept by the north minds to such an extent as to cause waves more than four feet in height.

On the further shore above this point the guides had made a camp earlier in the season and to this the party headed.

During the next three weeks hunting continued with nominal success. Not only deer were shot, but many pheasants and partridges and smaller game on which the party feasted. Bear tracks were seen, too, but these led to regions further up which were uninhabitable to a huntsman unprepared for such an emergency. By this time, however, three of the party had returned to civilization. One guide took them off to a French canadian bagging camp at the lower end of the lakes, leaving the other guide with J. C. Reed. After a day or so more hunting these two decided to give up the project of urther-hunting and set out to round the point and head for civilization But on attempting to pass round the point a heavy wind storm hit them and the waves beat over the canoe, drenching the two and nearly smothering Reed who was paddling at the stern of the canoe. The guide perceived the futility of trying to proceed further and quickly guided the canoe to the shore and then headed back to the camp. There they stayed for several days, shut in absolute solitude by the cold and storm. At last they decided to venture forth again, but found that ice an inch thick had formed near the point. This meant another period of isolation. Finally at the lapse of eight days the guide ventured to make another attempt. This time they succeeded in rounding the point, and keeping close to the shore they made their way through the broken ice and, from time to time they were compelled, almost exhausted, to go ashore and build a fire. After nearly five hours of struggling the canoe was rammed by a piece of ice and a slit, 3 inches in length was made in the bottom. Continous bailing and sheer grit carried them the rest of the distance to the logging camp, where they were cared for and allowed to rest.

Mr. Reed's experiences were so harrowing and the isolation of eight days so distressing that, as he now states, the trip home was never so long and the sight of friends never so gladsome to his as when he arrived in Ambler.

Mr. Reed not only brought home the limit number of deer, but also several fine pheasants. The heads of the deer are very fine specimens and he will have at least one of them mounted and added to the collection he started several years ago.

Thirty-five States, Pennsylvania Among Them, Officially Working With Red Cross.

The activities of the American Red Cross for the fiscal year ending June 30 last fulfilling the peace-time obligations of its congressional charter by "mitigating suffering caused by disaster and pestilence, and in devising and carrying on measures for preventing the same," touched, in some form, more than 15,000 American communities.

During the year a Red Cross Department of Health Service has been organized; its Nursing Service has been extended to meet a growing demand for public health nursing until over 36,000 nurses are now on its rolls; its First Aid to Injured courses have been widely taught, 6000 persons having been awarded First Aid Certificates during the year; and the American Red Cross has been the chief factor in the formation of the League of Red Cross Societies with headquarters in Geneva.

The Department of Health Service was established December 1, 1919. On June 30, 1920, there were in active operation 128 Health Centers, from which radiate innumerable activities designed to improve the health of the community and prevent the spread of disease, while 435 Red Cross Chapters were actively engaged in disease-preventive work.

The Bureau of First Aid to the Injured has issued 6000 certificates to those who have taken regular courses and awarded 465 medals Ten First Aid contests have taken place in various states, 1500 medallions have been distributed and 775 junior members have been awarded emblems.

Life Saving Service.

The Life Saving, or Water First Aid service has been extended during the past year by the addition of twenty-nine Red Cross Life Saving corps and the enrollment of 1500 new members, of whom 503 are women. There is now a complete woman's corps in this branch of the service.

The Health Department also includes a Bureau of Medical Social Service, which had under its supervision June 30, 1920, 312 Red Cross employes, serving 52 Public Health Hospitals. Of this number 125 are hospital social workers, and during the year 30,422 patients have received from this bureau some form of Red Cross service.

In the Department of Nursing the fiscal year was one of transition from military to civil activities.

Of the 604 nurses attached to the various American Red Cross commissions in Europe when the armistice was signed, all but 116 had returned to the United States by June 30, 1920. Of those 66 were in Poland, 46 in the Balkans, two in France and two in Bohemia. Six scholarships have been established at King's College.

Nursing Enrollment.

Enrollment in the Red Cross nursing service increased during the year from 35,426 to 36,705. On June 30 there were in active service 504 in the army, 321 in the navy and 943 in the Public Health corps.

In order to increase the number of qualified public health nurses, for which there is urgent demand, 288 scholarships have been established and 67 loans have been made from National Fund to public health nursing. In addition, approximately 250 scholarships have been awarded by the various chapters. Funds have also been given to the University of Minnesota, Peabody College, Tulane University, University of Louisville, and University of California.

Development in class instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick has increased three-fold during the fiscal year, the number having increased from 34,033 to 93,093. During June, 1920, 2090 nurse instructors were conducting classes.

Activities of the Bureau of Nutrition Service include the maintainance of a reserve of home economics women qualified and ready to serve in the event of war, and the promotion of the course of instruction in food selection, nutrition classes for undernourished children and the hot school lunch. During the year 2387 enrolled in this service [illegible] as hospital dietitians and 1878 as instructors. During the fiscal year a text-book upon this line of work has been issued and 1486 students have been certified.

One of the important results of the work done by the Red Cross Health and Nursing Departments has been that 35 states have practically adopted a uniform method of working in connection with the Red Cross, whereby a bureau of public health nursing has been instituted under the direction of the State Public Health officer.

The part which the American Red Cross took in the organization of the League of Red Cross Societies was purely educational; but in this way it blazed the trail for the League, which aims to extend the distress preventive and constructive brotherhood throughout the world.

WHAT'S IN A CURIO SHOP?

Many Rare Pieces Found at Harvey Dager's, Ambler.

Huge Oak Italian Chest Dates Back to the 17th Century Consul Table—Unique Sofa—Chippendale Corner Chair—Rare Clocks—Tapestry, Pictures, Etc.

Among the interesting places in this vicinity that one might visit is the antique and storage shop owned by Harvey Dager, on Park avenue, Ambler.

Somewhat of the beaten path of travel and in a converted stable as a part of his warehouse. Mr. Dager has collected and accumulated many odd and unique pieces of great value. Oldest and probably the most valuable among his collection is a huge, oak, Italian chest. Little is known of this massive affair, which measures more than seven feet in length and two and one half feet from base to lid. It is said to date back to the seventeenth century, but its history and use are difficult to deduce. The late Judge Carr was the former owner, but he, too, could never find a trace of its history. This old chest, now very dilapidated and worn eaten, would be handsome if renovated.

Two ornate crosses are carved in each end, while the sides and top are handsomely hand carved. A large brass and decidedly old lock and iron hinges secure the lid to the box. Its worth today is estimated at $300.

Near this old relic is a consul table of solid mahogany. This splendid piece stands about forty inches from base to shelf, and heavy curved columns support the lid. On top a beautiful slab of Mississippi marble surmounts the table, adding both to its value and ornamentation. The cost of this piece would probably be $50 or more.

A third interesting curio is a Jacobean sofa with roll arms and turned legs. A unique part of this sofa is a "stretcher base," so called because of the carved supports that connect the legs diagonally beneath the seat.

A Chippendale corner chair of solid Walnut is also a fine and useful specimen.

The combined cost of these two articles would be more than $500.

Aside from these there is one other article that strikes the fancy of any lover of antiques. This is an old narrow-backed fireside chair. It is difficult to state the Colonial period to which it belongs, but it is certainly 200 or more years old. Aside from these two, chairs of any worth are said to be very scarce. Mr. Dager states that despite the fact that he is constantly on the look-out for chairs, very few worth while have been seen in recent years.

Besides the well-made and useful pieces of furniture, Mr. Dager has collected a large number of ornamented, rare and exceptional trinkets. Those of greatest worth are the odd and unmatched Steigel glass product. Steigel glass, as the reader will remember, is ornately painted glass, the paint having been burned into the glass, and it not only appears more vivid in color but the paint itself will not blemish or rub off. These were made formerly in Lancaster county by one named Steigel who at first greatly prospered by reason of his new product, but later failed and was committed to jail for bankruptcy. Now the glasses are very scarce readily command so large a premium as to make each article worth near $100.

Suspended from the ceiling in the centre of one of the show roms is a large brass Persian lamp. Odd designs have been hammered into the brass and an illumination interiorly causes odd, grotesque and most startling forms to flash out.

Nearby hangs a large piece of tapestry into which a life-like design has been woven picturing a rural domestic scene. It is a handsome piece of woven silk, and being in such excellent condition is indeed valuable.

A small picture of Andrew Jackson painted before the civil war hangs nearby. This is painted with vivid and fantastical colors and is valuable because of the color scheme.

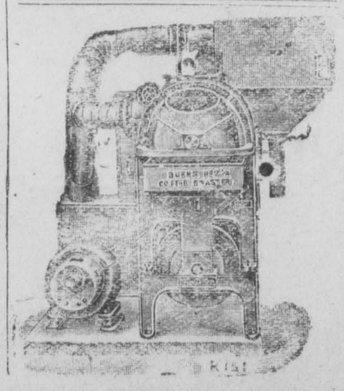
Several manuscripts are also displayed. One is an elaborate specimen of Bibical history. It is written in old English with a steel pen and illustrative sketches portray clearly the written verses below. The other is much older than; but similar to, the first. It is written in latin and its script and illustrations show not only the carefree wood life scenes, but even the mental and moral development of man.

Both of these, though of no value to the average person, are exceptional, not to say, wonderful works of art and are of much value respecially to one whose tastes are aesthetic or sentimental.

Among the many other articles, a tall marble clock is perhaps the most conspicuous. This is an old Ithaca calendar clock made by H. B. Horton in 1865. Though at present it is not running, a little adjustment is all that is necessary to start it and it will then not only designate the time of day, but will also register the day and the month.

Another piece worth mention is an antigue curly maple high chest. The handles of the drawers and the escutcheons at the key holes are all brass and are the original ones to the chest. They are nearly 100 years old.

Other articles of lesser value and importance than these last pieces are several well preserved violins, five small prayer rugs, the latter not frequently heard of today: a solid base pedestal table, a small poker table under which chairs slide and fit so nicely as to be completely hidden from view a small banjo clock, both rare and valuable, a three-quarter low posted production bed, several old fashioned bureaus and inumerable other pieces of rare interest to the curio lover, collected during an activity of 30 years of search throughout the eastern section of the United States.



Swindlers at Prospectville.

The Abington police are making an investigation of the actions of a couple of alleged swinders operating among the residents of Prospectville. Recently it is charged one of the men sold a pair of glasses to a party at the above place and a $20 bill was given in payment. The man said he would have to get change from his partner. That was the last seen of the man, and it was discovered later that he took the glasseswith him also. The trick of sending cheap eyeglasses through the mail, on C. O. D. order is also being worked it is alleged

Operators Who Braved Fire and Flood Get Vail Medals

Two Pennsylvanians are included in the list of nine persons who this week will receive silver medals, each accompanied by a special cash award of $250, given for "conspicuous examples of noteworthy service," while in the employ of the Bell Telephone System.

Miss Katherine Lind, Operator in Charge of the telephone office at Mahaffey, Pa., and Frank C. Wells, a lineman in the Pittsburgh organization, are among those who qualified for these medals, provided by the Vail Memorial Fund, established in honor of the late Theodore N. Vail, President of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company.

A gold medal, with a special cash award of $1,000 has been given Mrs. Mildred Lothrop, Chief Operator of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company in Homer, Nebraska. All three of the above persons were among the 49 Bell System employees who, a few months ago, received bronze medals The bronze medal, however, was not accompanied by a cash award.

Miss Katherine Lind, operator in charge for the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania at Mahaffey, Pa.

Frank C. Wells, lineman for the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh.

Miss Lind was at her home in Mahaffey when a fire broke out in that town, Sunday morning, June 26, 1920. Hurrying to the telephone office, she relieved one of the operators on duty and assisted in calling nearby towns for help to fight the flames. As the fire neared the telephone office she instructed the other operators to carry the records to a place of safety, and remained on duty at the switchboard while firemen played streams of water on the roof of the building to keep it from catching fire. She remained at her post until the fire was under control. The other employee of The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania to receive a silver medal was one of a crew that was erecting a telephone line near Larimer on July 8, 1920, when a fellow workman came in contact with a 2,200 volt power circuit. With no protection except the tape around the handle of his pliers, Wells, at the risk of his own life, cut the heavily charged wire and released his fellow worker, just in time to save the man's life.

Mrs. Lothrop, who qualified for the most coveted of the Vail medals, is the mother of five sons, the youngest being twins, 16 years old. Two of her boys served over-seas during the War.

The Telephone Central Office in Homer was in Mrs. Lothrop's house. A cloudburst, on the night of May 31, 1920, devastated the Omaha Creek Valley. While one of her boys rang the village fire bell, Mrs. Lothrop, at two o'clock in the morning, sat, lightly clad, at her switchboard, calling telephone subscribers to warn them of the approaching flood. She stayed at her post until the waters were waist-high and the switchboard was put out of commission. She reached a point of safety only after wading through water breast-high. About 25 houses were swept from their foundations, and many were carried down the stream by the flood. As much as she values the gold medal, it is probable that Mrs. Lothrop takes even more pride in the gifts of potatoes cream, butter, fruit and other such produce, sent her almost daily by the farmers of the Omaha Creek Valley.

"AMERICANS SHOULD BE PROUD OF WORK BY NEAR EAST RELIEF"

Says American High Commissioner. Congress Is Told of Great Accomplishment

Washington.—The annual report of the activities of the Near East Relief organization, filed with Congress by Charles V. Vickrey, General Secretary, constitutes the modest history of one of the greatest pieces of philanthropic work ever undertaken and carried through by American men and women, according to well informed persons in the capital. Admiral Mark L. Bristol, United States High Commissioner to Turkey, for example, declares:

CHARLES V. VICKREY

"I have been closely associated with the work of the Near East Relief committee for about 22 months. On the whole the work of this relief committee has been such that Americans should be proud of this great humane effort. The Near East Relief here in Constantinople is run more like a business organization than any relief organization with which I have ever come into contact."

Charles V. Vickrey's summary of the activities of the Near East Relief shows the disbursement of over $60,000,000.00 in cash and supplies, contributed by the American people to the salvaging of the Christian populations of the Near East. 711 American and Canadian men and women relief workers have been engaged in this huge task on little more than a volunteer basis. 63 hospitals, with 6,522 beds, and 123 clinics; 11 rescue homes, where young girls rescued from lives of shame in Turkish harems are taught to forget their sufferings, and to begin life anew, self-supporting and independent, are maintained.

110,000 Little Children

The most remarkable feature of the work of the Near East Relief is, however, the salvation of tens of thousands of children who have lost parents and relatives during the past six years. For these little ones American generosity has provided, through the Near East Relief, 299 homes—one, in Alexandropol, Armenia, housing 18,000 children—where, last year, 54,600 children were housed, clothed, fed and taught, while an additional 56,039, outside the Near East Relief orphanages, were saved from starvation and death by food and clothing sent them from the United States.

Mr. Vickrey's report states that approximately 2,790,490 Armenians are still living in the Near East, out of a pre-war population of over 4,000,000 and estimates that had it not been for the aid given by the American people through the Near East Relief, fully half of those now living would have perished. Food was furnished to 561,970 homeless refugees during a large part of 1920, while 300,000 garments, comprising 1,500,000 pounds of clothing sent out from the United States were distributed to barefoot and rag-clad wanderers, all the way from the Mediterranean to the Caucasus mountains.

Work Must Continue

Commenting on these figures Mr. Vickrey stated that "this distinctively humanitarian relief work, as an expression of brotherhood, should help to mark the beginning of a new era of peace and inter-racial good will in the Near East.

"The tremendous task undertaken by the American people in saving the children of the Near East is one which cannot be left unfinished. We have an investment of over $60,000,000 in human life, that America has saved. If we falter or pause now, that investment is imperiled, or may even be lost altogether. Most of the children we have saved from death are still too little to take care of themselves, and conditions throughout the Near East are still too uncertain to let them shift for themselves. It is morally sure that for at least five years, and until these little ones that we have snatched from a terrible fate are able to support themselves and enjoy an even chance of life as useful citizens, the American people who have rescued them must see them through.

"It is the purpose of the Near East Relief to do just this, and we appeal to the generosity of the American people to see this noble work is carried out in the spirit of mutual helpfulness and Christian charity which is so essentially characteristic of the American ideal."

Contributions to the work of the Near East Relief may be sent to Cleveland H. Dodge, Treasurer 1 Madison Ave., New York City.

AMERICAN FOOD SHIP SAVES 18,000 BABES FROM STARVATION

Heroic Yankee Women Risk Lives to Rescue Children, in Service of Near East Relief

Constantinople.—How the prompt action of Charles V. Vickrey, General Secretary of the Near East Relief, and Harold C. Jaquith, representative of that American relief organization in Constantinople, saved the lives of 18,000 orphan children and seven American relief workers in Alexandropol, Armenia, is what all the representatives of the Allied nations in Constantinople are applauding today.

For five years the Near East Relief organization had built up a work of mercy throughout the former Turkish Empire and Transcaucasia, to a point where 54,600 little children were being housed, clothed, fed, given medical attendance and taught, and over 56,000 others being supplied with food. Then suddenly, on February 5, last, there came hurried cable reports of renewed fighting in Armenia and Transcaucasia, where 75,818 of these little ones were located under the protection of the Near East Relief. Consular representatives left the country. All foreigners piled onto ships and fled. War threatened to scatter the work and render vain the long, patient efforts of the Near East Relief to salvage a whole nation's children.

But the American men and women who had cared for these little ones were undismayed. They refused to leave under bombardment, with hostile armies sweeping through the streets where the Near East Relief's great orphanages had been established, with all supplies cut off and no communication with the outside world, or with that far American homeland whose representatives these heroic men and women are, they stuck to their posts. The last food from America had come in on November 6, 1920.

It was not until four months later that the new governments of the Transcaucasian states were established on a solid basis. But famine threatened. An appeal was made to American philanthropy: "Critical need for food products in Caucasus," the cable read. "No limit to need in Armenia. New government promises better facilities for relief activity than former government." A few days later, a further piteous plea followed: "Total orphans in Alexandropol 18,000. Supplies in Alexandropol allow half-rations, April 3rd to 30th. After May 1st, nothing."

But this splendid American relief organization had not waited. Food was already on the way. On April 22, Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, cabled: "Expect ship first week in May: 1,000 tons rice; 1,000 tons wheat flour; 600 tons cornmeal, corn flour, hominy; 30 tons sugar; 500 tons beans; 5,000 cases corn syrup, from New York and New Orleans direct to Batum. Additional 1,000 tons wheat flour from Pacific Coast June 1st."

The seven American relief workers in charge of the 18,000 little ones in Alexandropol cabled a last appeal: "No food at any price. Four days more and we are finished." But when the first relief ship "Quequen" entered the deserted harbor of Batum on May 1, there were just ten bags of flour left. The food ship had come in time. America had saved the day—and the 18,000 little orphan children, who had suffered so much and lost so much in their short, war-clouded lives, never knew that gaunt hunger in the robes of death had knocked at the door of the orphanage at Alexandropol—and that America had thrust the bony hand away.

"It is the great heart of America that made this work of salvation possible," Mr. Vickrey declared. "The money that sends the bread to these children comes from ten million homes throughout the United States. It comes from the hearts of the most generous people in the world, who cannot bear to know that half a world away, little children are facing hunger and death, without helping them to life and happiness."

Mr. Vickrey is making a nation-wide appeal to the people of the United States to keep this great work going. Contributions may be sent to Cleveland H. Dodge, Treasurer, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City.

FLOURTOWN.

Mrs. George Roberts expects to be in her newly erected house at the corner of Weiss avenue and Mill road by the 15th of this month.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Flourtown Fire company will meet Wednesday afternoon, December 14th, at 2.30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Harry Barnes. A full attendance of the members is urged.

H. A. Clarke has started the foundation of his new house which is to be built along side of his new garage, on the pike.

The township police are endevoring to break up the dangerous practice of passing Mill road at the pike without sounding horn. This is too dangerous a crossing for any driver of a motor vehicle to pass without giving some warning. A few arrests will probably have a decided effect. Residents along the pike should see that the sidewalks are cleaned so that people can use them. At the present time some are almost impassable.

Richard Roynan has started excavation on Weiss avenue for a house.

Last week the local fire company held a demonstration of a siren for an alarm. There is no report as yet as to whether the demonstration was successful or not.

Be careful how you send your Christmas mail. This is a warning sent out by the postmaster general. See that the package is properly wrapped and addressed, and do not fail to place your name in the upper left hand corner so that it can be returned to you if not delivered to the party intended.

The Flourtown Dance club held a dance last Friday evening in Joslin's hall, Germantown.

The Zion Lutheran Brotherhood will hold its monthly meeting this Thursday evening at the home of George Matz, Mill road.

Regular service in Zion Lutheran church next Sunday. Sabbath school session at 9.30; preaching at 10.45 a. m., and 7.45 p. m. Catechism class Friday at 4.15 p. m. The bazaar and sale of Christmas novelties and other useful articles by the church last Friday and Saturday was quite successful. The event was largely attended and a neat sum was realized.

The regular monthly meeting of the Erdenheim-Flourtown Civic association will be held Thursday evening, December 15.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Flourtown Fire company, the following offices were nominated. President, Milton R. Snyder; vice president, Charles Finley; treasurer, Newton Yarnall, Sr., secretary, George Snyder; assistant secretary, Walter Thomas; trustee and chief, Walter Rohrbach; Representative to Firemen's Association, Sigmund Kuder. The election for these officers will be held the first Thursday evening in the new year. With this meeting the company will close a most prosperous year. The trustees were authorized to pay off $500 of the mortgage on the company's property. All members are urged to attend the yearly meeting of the company in January.

Services will be held as usual next Sunday in Springfield Presbyterian church. Weekly prayer meeting Wednesday evening. The Sabbath School association held its monthly meeting one evening last week and elected the following officers; Superintendent, M. R. Snyder; assistant superintendent, Harvey Kimbel; treasurer, Miss Isabella Wilson; secretary, Miss Margaret Wilson; librarian, Mrs. George Herbert superintendent of the primary department, Mrs. Herbert Hesser; assistant superintendent, Miss Emma Wilson. During the past year the school has been quite successful, and not only has the membership increased, but the number attending has also increased from 18 to 60.

A. Berger is moving his greenhouses from West Philadelphia to his property on Mill road, which formerly belonged to Ambrose Yeakle. H. Clark, local contractor, has the contract to haul the greenhouses to this place.

On Tuesday evening the Norton Downs, Jr., Post No. 125, American Legion, met for the election of officers. First the old business of the year was brought to a close and a treasurer's report given, which showed the legion well started toward a substantial organization. It was then stated that in little more than a week's time the new rooms rented by the legion will be ready for use and at that time there will be an "open night" when all members should get together and bring every ex-service man known in the community. This night will be devoted to games, pool and music, and cigarettes and refreshments will top the card. Due notice will be given every member of the post. The election of officers followed: Post commander, Dr. James A. Shelly; first post vice commander, Henry Faust; second post vice commander, Ralph E. Frey; post adjutant, Robert Kelly; assistant post adjutant, Clayton Irvin; Chaplain, John McIlroy; sergeant-at-arms, Alex Willox, Clarence Stout, Harry Rymer, (all by appointment); finance officers, Carl Gorton; historian, Roy Irvin. It was then announced that the next meeting will be held on January 3, in the new rooms located over the Truman store, in the "Gazette" building.

A pie cake and novelty sale will be held in St. Thomas Parish on Saturday Dec. 10, at 3 o'clock under the auspices of the Parish Society. In the evening a moving picture Wallace Reid in "The Love Special", will be shown in the Sunday school room. Admission, adults 25 cents and children 15 cents.

BARREN HILL.

Postmaster General Will H. Hays has sent a "Christmass Message" to the Boys and girls of the United State to be delivered and read in all Public Schools December 5th, 1921, it is not only a message of good cheer but it instructs them how to send their Christmas mail. When to send and how to wrap their packages instructions if followed will greatly aid the postal department in the coming holiday rush. The Lafayette Hill postmaster has been delegated to deliver the postmaster General's message to the school authorities who in turn are expected to get it to the children. Later on she will be called on to make a report how this was done, how received and results obtained.

A reliable, dependable, easy running, easy riding, economical in gasoline, oil and assuring long life to tires—such is the car you are looking for. I beg to call your attention to the Buick. Examine it critically, ask a Buick owner and let me demonstrate its many commendable features. —Rudolph Speelholer, agent. adv

Every businessman in the borough should become a member of the association, and in turn a board of directors should be elected to manage the business affairs. A good baseball club is a wonderful advertisement for any community, and this opportunity should not be lost by our business people.

The Lehigh Valley Transit company has repaired that portion of Bannockburn avenue within the limits of Upper Dublin township and has placed oil and crushed stone on the surface of the roadway. The street was very much cut up because of the heavy travel during the period of detours made necessary during the concreting of the Springhouse and Chestnut Hill turnpike.

The First National Bank of Ambler is distributing more than $50,000 to its Christmas club members. The new club is open for 1922, and any one may join by applying to the bank and signing the card agreeing to make regular weekly payments of such amount as may be conveniently spared. On this total sum the bank allows interest at the rate of 3½ per cent, mailing check to each paid-up member next December.

If you want to play a game with the birds, hide bits of fat meat, suet and nuts in the crevices of the bark of a tree, which is near a window, then watch for the acrobatic nuthatch, which will climb down a tree headforemost as easily as going up in the natural way, and by peering into every crack and crevice will soon find the hiding place. Brown creepers and tufted titmice are adepts at the game also.

Tresspass notices on sale at the "Gazette" office are prepared in conformity with the existing state laws. The provision is that the property must be "prominently posted" with a "printed sign." The sign is required to state that the land is private property and that trespassing thereon is prohibited, and in addition the act of assembly must be stated at the foot of the card. Property owners have desire to proceed legally against trespassers must comply with this law themselves with regard to the nature of the notice posted on their property, else legal action will fail, no matter how flagrant the violation. If you desire to close your land, secure these "Gazette" office notices and post them "prominently," as required by the law.

Lansdale has already started a movement looking forward to a high class baseball team for the season of 1922. The club next year, if plans go through, will have a player manager, possibly it will be "Cy" Mellinger, who was the team star pitcher last year. Nothinghas been done so far by the officials of the Ambler club for a team next year. The officials, of the local club, it is announced, have been busy since the season closed, trying to get the club out of debt. Manager Amey said the other day that an effort will shortly be made to hold an athletic entertainment in the Ambler opera house in the near future with the hope of liquidating all the outstanding bills of the club. The baseball club is a business proposition, and more of our businessmen should take a greater interest. The entire burden heretofore has been placed on the shoulders of the few who ran the club, which ought not to be. Every businessman in the borough

The Youth's Companion Home Calendar for 1922.

The Publishers of the Youth's Companion are sending to every subscriber whose subscription ($2.50) is paid for 1922 a Calendar for the new year. The tablets are printed in red and dark blue, and besides giving the days of the currentmonth in bold legible type, give the Calendar of the preceding and succeeding months in smaller type in the margin. The Companion Home Calendar has been published in standard form for many years and is every where in quest because of its convenience and novelty.

Engagement Announced.

At a bridge party given in Lansdale by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Freed, at their home on Susquehanna avenue, the engagement of Miss Marguerite B. Morgan principal of the Lansdale High School and Joseph Kerr Weaver, prominent Lansdale newspaperman, was announced.

Mr. Weaver is manager of the Lansdale office of the North Penn News Service, associate editor of a Lansdale newspaper and is athletic coach at Lansdale High.

Want Water Extension

A movement has been started looking to the extension of the main of the Norristown Water company from its terminus at Jeffersonville, to the Eagleville Tuberculosis Sanitorium.

The cost of the extension, it is said would be about $18,000 and the management of the sanitorium is willing to contribute one-half of the amount. Attempts have been made to get an adequate water supply at the sanitorium by sinking a well, but this means has not been satisfactory.

Gas Man.

People having a common interest who live in the same place under the same laws and regulations constitute a community. And wherever a community exists, community problems arise.

These community problems explain companies - companies organize to render service essential to the general public health or convenience.

The only reason for the existance of this company is that you may have a service that would otherwise be unobtainable. Where any service, such as gas, electricitytelephone, telegraph or transportation is not efficient, people shun that community as a place or residence and occupation; a good place not to invest money; a good place to stay away from.

Every community is known by its utilities.

The 1921 Farm Products Show.

Preparations for the annual farm products show are well advanced. This event, arranged and conducted by the Montgomery County Farm Bureau, promises in many respects to surpass any previously held.

The allied organizations that are co-operating, are the Pomona Grange and the eight Subordinate Granges of the county. The Montgomery County Horticultural association and the Montgomery Bee Keepers' association. Special cooperation will also be had from the state department of agriculture at Harrisburg and the Pennsylvania State College of Agriculture.

The show will again be held in city hall. Norristown and will be open to the public on Tuesday noon, December 6th, and continue, day and evening, until Friday evening, Dec. 9th.

The prizes offered are the same as in former years and total more than $150. In addition the Montgomery Trust Co., is offering $100 in gold as special prizes in various classes. As the seasons crop of corn is rather above the average there is little doubt in regard to the numbers and quality of the exhibits in the various classes of corn . As the housewives of our county are always proud of their prowess in the line of canning vegetables and fruit we may rest assured that the canned products classes will again be well filled. The egg exhibits will have lost nothing of their popularity.

Although the crop of fruit of all kinds was seriously damaged by late frosts last spring, sufficient fruit was matured to permit a very creditable exhibit. The number of exhibits may not be so large, but the quality will, if anything, be a little better.

The bureau of animal industry is sending an educational exhibit, with a competent person in charge, that will prove to be of great advantage to all attending.

Manufacturing firms and business men in various lines have again leased the spaces reserved for display advertising. This feature of these annual events will prove to be far superior to previous years.

The judging of the various classes will be done on Dec. 7th. and the several judges will remain for an extra day to discuss with any one interested, the reasons for their selections of prize winners. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

When You Are Constipated.

To insure a healthy action of the bowels and correct disorders of the liver, take two of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper. They will not only cause a gentle movement of the bowels, without unpleasant effects, but banish that dull, sttupid feeling, that often accompanies constipation. dec

Taking Desperate Chances.

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding attack and paves the way for the more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle? dec

State Roads Built During Year

The State Highway department has announced that construction of durable highways in Pennsylvania during the present season passed the 650-mile mark last week, This marks 300 miles beyond that reached by any state highway department in the United States during one year for this type of pavement.

The Department's maintenance forcesthis year up until the first week in November had put down 214.95 miles of waterbound macadam and 297.04 of unbound macadam.

During the 1921 season the Department's maintenance forces have surface treated with oils and bituminous materials 1796¾ miles of roadwaay.

In 1919 the maintenance forces of the Department put down a total of 286.8 miles of waterbound and unbound macadam; in 1920, 320,36 miles of water macadom; in 1920, 320,36 milesof water bound and unbound macadam. The oiling total for 1919 was 1621 miles; for 1920, 1403 miles.

At the present time in Pennsylvania, the modern-type roadway approximate 1880 miles and the other hard-surfaced roads 3107 miles, these indulging state highways and state-aid highways.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Mother's Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures have made it a favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of young children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief and is free from opium and other harmful drugs. dec

Lansdale Councilmen Overthrew Dr. Jacobs.

Dr.John N. Jacobs was thrown down hard by his fellow-members of the Lansdale Borough Council, despite the fact that the veteran bristles with antagonism and even threatened to quit.

Dr. Jacobs opposed action at this time on the annexation of a section of Upper Gwynedd township to Lansdale. He asserted that such action would be tying the hands of new council that will be seated in January. He said it is not correct that there has "been a revolution" at Lansdale, referring to the fact that as a result of the election two veteran councilmen were ousted by independent candidates, Dr. Jacobs is one of four members of the present council who are returned.-

The proposal to reduce the electric light and power rates in Lansdale was defeated.

Henry Oberholtzer has painted the addition he recently made to his residence.

George Herrman, who resided here for many years and who has latterly lived in Philadelphia, has been visiting hereabouts.

During the long continued dry weather George Bodenstein was obliged to pump water from deep wells to supply his water mains, and during the past two months his operating expenses have been increased by the consumption of 100 gallons of gasoline each month over the normal quantity in order to operate the necessary pumps to supply the mains.

During last week workmen have been patching the cracks which have developed in the concrete surface of the turnpike.

An enjoyable event took place last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Grubb, when they entertained in honor of their daughter Ida on the occasion of her birthday anniversary.

Arbuckle-Gordon company continues to furnish lumber and other materials for building operations at Tradesville.

A new gasoline tank is being installed by Rittenhouse and Rittenhouse at the Fort Washington garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Goss, of Tioga, who were recently married, were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Michener one evening last week.

Jesse N. Arbuckle, president of Arbuckle-Gordon company, has been confined to the house the past week suffering from a severe cold.

Herbert Frascitor has been successful in trapping seven muskrats so far this season. He is receiving, at present $1.25 per pelt.

Mrs. Sarah Goss celebrated her birthday anniversary on Thursday and was remembered by a large number of her relatives and friends.

It begins to look now as though, with the opening of spring when good weather may be looked for, that some action will have to be taken against the reckless operators of motor vehicles on the pike. Every day, at the present time when there is not so much traveling on the pike as may be expected next spring and summer, there is evidence of what can be looked for at the time stated. Today cars are operated at such a rate of speed that endanger the lives of the traveling public and because of this recklessness there has been a large number of accidents between Fort Washington and Springhouse since the opening of the pike. Every township on the pike should follow Springfield and post the 15-mile limit signs and see that any violators of the notice are given the proper punishment.

Miss Ella Ruth, formerly supervising principal of the Upper Dublin schools, has written from her far-away home in North Dakota to a friend here that she is enjoying good health, but the weather has been quite severe. The ground has been covered with snow for a period of three weeks and the coolest weather so far experienced has been 26 degrees below Zero.

This Thursday evening will be a big night at the regular monthly meeting of the Fort Washington Fire company. At this session officers will be elected, and it is hoped that every member who can will be on hand to lend his support towards making up a ticket to be elected at the meeting in January.

Several employes have been laid off at the Arbuckle-Gordon company's plant.

A most interesting and encouraging meeting of the Fort Washington Home and School League was held last Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Upper Dublin school. Though there was not a large attendance, the parents, citizens and school board were well represented. Constructive work was outlined and committees were appointed to carry out plans and report at the next meeting. A piano committee has been named to plan for the purchase of a new piano. A library committee will work to greatly enlarge the present school library. A record committee plans to secure donations of records and also possibly purchase educational records for class use. As there is an insistent demand for again serving hot lunches to the school children a committee has already started to work on plans, and it is hoped that by the first of the year something definite will be arranged. Regular meetings of the association will be held hereafter on the fourth Thursday in each month, the next to be in January, unless specially called. Considering the limited attendance at the last meeting, if there is similar enthusiasm and increased attendance at future meetings, the success of the Home and School League is assured. Mrs. E. Kerschner was elected a vice president to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss M. Ella Ruth.

Joseph Monaghan is cutting down the timber on the lots on Militia hill, which he purchased recently from Harry Earnest.

Prof. Mahoney, a well known public speaker, will address the men of Fort Washington and vicinity, at a public meeting to be held on Thursday, Dec. 15, at Trinity Lutheran Church. His theme will be "Freedom, Old and New" Keep this date open, as you can't afford to miss this opportunity.

George Hawkins, of Glenside, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Thomas Gillian, will leave this Thursday to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Edith Mills, in Easton.

The rummage sale held by Mrs. Henry M. Freas, of Fort Washington, assisted by Mrs. Henry Keller and Mrs. Jesse Arbuckle, in Ambler on Nov. 10th and 11th for poor girls and women patients at the Home for Consumptive at Chestnut Hill, has up to the present time realized $620.19. The patients have asked that thanks be extended to the good people through the "Ambler Gazette," for their splendid support.

One Extra Day Added to the Corn Show.

The annual farm products show of Montgomery county, which opened on Tuesday in City hall, Norristown, will continue until Saturday night.

There have been many very beautiful exhibits entered, and the tables holding the farm products are loaded more than ever. The corn exhibits are, of course, the most interesting and the largest. There is much more corn on display than ever before, and the competition seems very keen. So many of the exhibitors are new and they have picked some mighty fine corn, the judges will find that they have a very much harder time of it than formerly. There have been several freek exhibits sent to the show. Some are of unusual interest. One exhibitor has a frame full of ears of yellow corn, graded from a very small ear less than two inches long to a very long ear nearly 15 inches. There are several ears entered singly that are of immense size.

Mrs. Albert S. Shultz, of Worcester, has entered a beet that is the largest one ever grown in this county that there is any record of. It weighs more than 18 pounds. There have been several very fine pumpkins and many other large and beautiful exhibits of fruit and vegetables.

The exhibit of the state veterinary department has made a decided impression, and the farmers of the county are making good use of it. The Bee Keepers' association have another of their fine exhibits, and it surpasses the display of last year.

There seems to have sprung up among the commercial booth holders quite a decided rivalry as to who can make the finest appearing booth, and the result has been that there is a display of the decorators art that is well worth seeing. There are many very striking color effects, and the sight is very pleasing. It would be very hard to pick out the prettiest booth, but there is one that has made a decided hit with the general public and the booth holders as well. Earnest J. Youngjohns has a display of pianos and victrolas on the stage that every one likes. There are several very fine singers who demonstrate the latest popular and classical music, and then the many new records that are being played on the various models of the Victors he has on display are appreciated.

Every farmer of this county should visit this show. There is no excuse for not doing so, as there, is a full week to see it in.

CENTRE SQUARE.

Mrs. Joseph Zornek spent Monday in Philadelphia as the guest of friends.

A Christmas bazaar and lunch was given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Lutheran church on Saturday. The event was held in the Sunday school room, was well attended and quite a neat sum was realized.

The regular monthly meeting of the Centre Square Fire company was held last Thursday evening. The event was held in the Sunday school room, was well attended and quite a neat sum was realized.

The regular monthly meeting of the Centre Square Fire company was held last Thursday evening. The usual routine business was transacted. Next month the officers will be nominated and other annual business transacted.

The business directory, announced last week, has been installed in the barber shop of Joseph Zornek and makes quite an ornament to the wall with its large clock in the center.

Last Saturday evening there was considerable excitement here when Constable Chalk attempted to arrest Charles Rodebaugh, of Belfry. According to what could be learned it is charged that on two Saturday evenings in succession Rodebaugh came here under the influence of intoxicating liquors and started trouble. On the first occasion no officer was on hand to deal with him and he was allowed to have his own way because our citizens did not care to get into any mix-up with the man. However, last Saturday evening Constable Chalk was on hand. Rodebaugh hardly reached here when he again started in to make life miserable for some of the residents. He was told several times to behave himself otherwise he would be placed under arrest. This did not have the desired effect and when the officer attempted to place him under arrest he struck Mr. Chalk a violent blow in the face and others who came to assist in making the arrest were also struck and kicked. George Chalk, who came to his brother's assistance was kicked and thrown in such a manner as to have one of his arms fractured at the elbow and was otherwise bruised about the body. Finally Officer Chalk succeeded in getting the handcuffs on his prisoner and he was removed to the station house at city hall, Norristown On Sunday morning he was brought before Justice of the Peace Morris and given a hearing. Rodebaugh gave his age as 23. He is married and has two children. After hearing the evidence in the case 'Squire Morris held the defendant under $600 bail for further hearing Friday, when it is believed that all those who were injured in the scuffle will be able to appear and testify.

F. Clifford Bernhard and family entertained Misses Anna and Emma Shoemaker, of Norristown; Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hand, of Blue Bell, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Nolan and their two sons spent a day last week in Camden, N. J.

Mr. J. Irvin Yost and family entertained Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Limbold, of Philadelphia, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Hiram Krieble is on the sick lost.

Mrs. George Sieberling, of Allentown, has been spending several days with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Seiple.

WEST POINT.

Services next Sunday in Grace Reformed church will be held at 3 p. m., Sabbath school session at 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoot are receiving congratulations over the birth of a son.

L. G. Vauhn, Edwin Quinn, Joseph [illegible] and E. P. Sherman are on a hunting trip to the western part of the state to be gone about a week or ten days.

Harry M. Nase on Monday unloaded a car of table and cattle salt. Many of the dealers hereabouts are supplied by Mr. Nase from the car. Quite a number of the farmers also purchase their yearly supply of cattle salt from Mr. Nase.

A pipless heater has been installed in the McGregar property by our local tinsmith, J. F. Fenstermacher.

The Christmas festival of Union Sunday school will be held Monday evening, December 26th.

Mr. Heffletreger, who has been teamster for S. C. Kriebel, will hereafter be employed in Mr. Kriebel's mill.

Local industries, excepting the brick yard, continue to run on full time and to give employment to the full quota of hands.

The annual meeting of the West Point Fire company will be held the first Monday evening in the new year, at which time officers will be elected.

Members of West Point camp, P. O. S. of A., are celebrating the anniversary of instituting the camp this Wednesday evening.

Next Tuesday a number of the citizens of this township intend being present in court at Norristown to hear argument growing out of the election last month. Should the court throw out the vote counted for H. M. Reed for the school board it will make a three cornered tie among Mrs. Walton, Mr. Hillegas and Mr. Reed.

Joseph Huber has fully recovered from his recent severe cold, which he suffered with several days.

GWYNEDD VALLEY.

While returning home after delivering his milk, about 7.30 in the morning, George Dewberry was surprised to find his barn on fire. The structure was completely destroyed. Four cows, two horses 34 ducks and nearly all the farm machinery were lost.

In return for the aid and sympathy given by friends, nieghbors and the fire companies of Centre Square and Ambler during and following the recent fire, Mr. and Mrs. Dewberry desire to extend their gratitude for every effort made by all to help in any way possible.

A. C. Krumm was the first to enjoy a sleigh ride in this section last Sunday morning.

Prof. Wm. L. Krauskopf and George Rudmond, who recently moved to Philadelphia for the winter, returned to survey their places for a brief space of time last week.

Rudolph Liebig, formerly of Pinehurst poultry farm, returned from Philadelphia last Saturday to visit his friends in this neighborhood.

R. L. Taylor and family have closed their place for the winter and have gone to the city.

Charles F. Gummey has gone to the city for the winter.

While working on his car in the cellar garage last week Edward Hoffman was nearly overcome by gas fumes from the engine.

SPRINGHOUSE.

Wilmer Marple will move from the Reiger farm in January.

Miss Dorothy Hamel, daughter of Henry Hamel, received the gold medal prize at the graduating exercises of trained nurses, held at the Chestnut Hill hospital last week.

Many of our residents received their Christmas club checks from the First National Bank of Ambler last week. This will enable them to do their Christmas shopping early. If any in this vicinity desires to have cash for Christmas of next year, they can do so by calling at the bank and joining the new Christmas club, which is now forming. This plan is growing in popularity, and each year the number of members in this vicinity who receive cash for Christmas increases.

The Springhouse Athletic association held its annual dinner at Kuebler's hotel last week. 14 members were present.

Captain Harry C Drayton, Air Service, U. S. A., and Mrs. Drayton are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Marjory Elliot Drayton, on November 26th, at Langleyfield, Virginia.

John Madigan, of Chestnut Hill, was calling on local friends at this place on Saturday.

Mrs. Carrie Bowers entertained relatives from Langhorne over the week-end.

Mrs. Charles Hicks, of Spring City, has been spending a few days with Wilmer Marple and family.

Miss Bessie Radcliff, of Chestnut Hill, was calling on local friends at this place on Wednesday.
